Pipeline - To do - Easy jobs

These are tasks that are pretty simple but consequently also kinda boring, which is why they haven't been done yet.

Configuring RV so it automatically selects the correct colorspace

Right now when we're doing a review session in our viewing space we have to select the correct colorspace again everytime we switch the version we're looking at. Super annoying.

Fixing the Nuke "has no attribute get" error

Sometimes when a review version is sent to render on Deadline the ShotGrid context is not sent along properly. The problem seems to be that sometimes a Nuke session loses its ShotGrid context. Restarting Nuke and publishing again always fixes the problem, but this still needs some investigating.
